The fiscal laws change frequently and most individuals and corporations do not have the time or the resources to assure the changes are being implemented correctly. We take pride in representing all our clients whether for their individual or corporate tax returns or for more important issues; conferring and working with Canada Revenue on their behalf to ensure they are not being over assessed and unduly charged with penalties, interest or inadmissible deductions. Should you know of a friend, family member, colleague, client or business that might be in need of assistance, please refer them to us. It would be our pleasure to answer any of their questions and assist them with any issue they might be experiencing.
